

WANTED: Playwrights

Wayside Theatre's Emerging Artists Program is looking for area youth ages 13-18 to join the playwriting workshop for the 2010 Fall New Work production of Creating Mary Shelley (working title). In this summer-long workshop students collaborate on one play that culminates in a professional production of the piece in Fall 2010.

Never written a play before? That's just fine! This workshop works with students who are first-time playwrights to students who have crafted many plays but want to continue their education.

And it gets better! This workshop is absolutely FREE!

Learn about playwriting and see your play go from pencil to performance.

The first meeting is June 10th at 5:00 pm at Wayside Theatre.

The rest of the schedule for the summer is based off participating students' schedules.
